FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: What costs will I be responsible for?

A: Live-In students will be responsible for their own food and meals, as well as personal care items.

Q: Will I get my own room?

A: One station has private rooms and two stations have shared rooms with bunk beds. Students share common living space, a fully equipped kitchen, restrooms, computer, and other facilities.

Q: How often will I be on duty?

A: Student Live-Ins are expected to pull 20 hours of standby time a week at one of the department's six station houses.

Q: Do I need to have prior firefighting experience?

A: No, previous firefighting experience is not necessary. Upon admission to the Student Live-In program, you will be enrolled in a 64-hour basic firefighting course to prepare you for firefighting duties. Once you have that training, you will be given the opportunity to complete Firefighter Levels I & II as well as any additional training necessary. SVFD Student Live-Ins must successfully complete FFI by the end of their first year in the program.

Q: When are applications accepted?

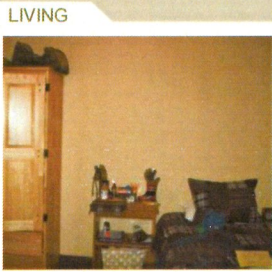

A: Applications are accepted in the Spring for acceptance into the Fall semester.
